

Newsletter- Friday 23rd January

Our classrooms have been buzzing with curiosity, creativity, and plenty of learning this week!

Looking ahead, Years 2–6 will begin their personalised assessments next week, giving us a clear picture of how far they've come this year and helping us plan their next steps. Alongside this, we'll continue our journey through the different eras of our school's history—an exciting project that's sparking lots of great conversations. Wishing you all a restful and enjoyable weekend

Warm Wishes

Nicola Locker and the St Chad's Team

Dosbarth 4 have been so excited over the last few weeks, and the moment has finally arrived! They have started designing and building their hedgehog houses, putting their creativity and problem-solving skills to great use.

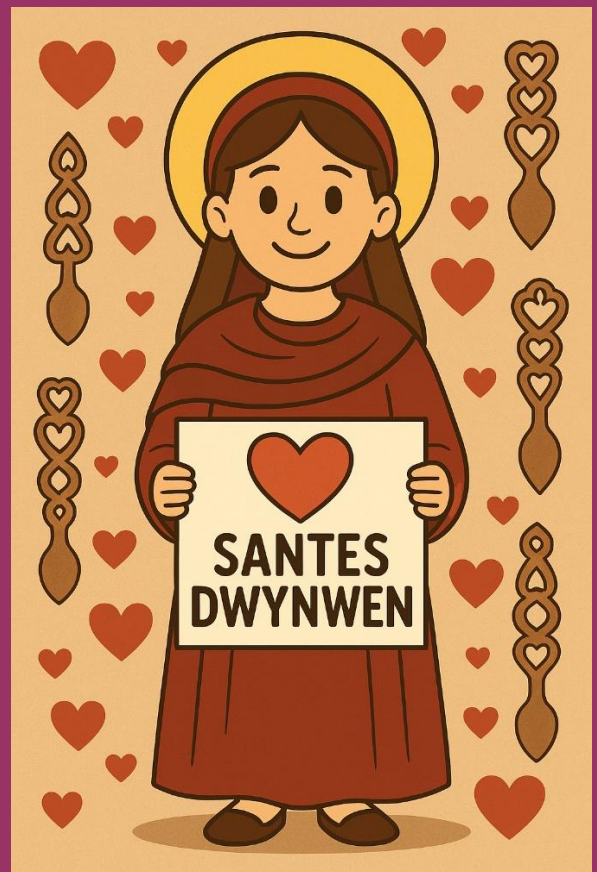

As part of National Bird Month, Dosbarth 2 have also been busy creating their own bird feeders. They've loved learning about how to care for local wildlife and are proud of their tasty treats for the birds!

Thank you to all families for your positive response to our Late Book system. We're delighted to see a significant improvement in children arriving on time. Your efforts make a real difference to the smooth start of our school day.

As a reminder, we are required to report our attendance figures to the Welsh Government twice a day, so every minute counts. Many activities take place first thing in the morning, including settling-in routines, wellbeing check-ins, reading, and key learning tasks.

Arriving just 15 minutes late each day adds up to more than an hour of lost learning every week. Over time, this has a real impact on progress, confidence, and classroom participation.

Thank you for continuing to support good punctuality.

We had a wonderfully unexpected visitor in school today! Rio the Mohawk Parrot swooped in to say a cheerful "hello" to Dosbarth 1 and Dosbarth 2.

The children were absolutely delighted as Rio showed off his bright feathers and friendly personality. There were plenty of smiles and curious questions as he explored the classroom and greeted everyone.
